

THE HAMLIN HERALD

IN 32ND YEAR—EVERY WEEK SINCE 1905

HAMLIN, JONES COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JUNE 4, 1937.

Showers Continue But Wheat Harvest Starts

This week rains, in spots, have fallen all around and about, and in some localities in the county poured down in almost water-spout fashion. But the rains have retarded wheat harvesting only a little.

Reports from the early fields that are being harvested are that the yield is far in excess of what was first figured.

John T. Day says that his wheat, southwest of Hamlin, is making up to as high as 24 bushels per acre, and that's WHEAT any old year. Other fields are giving the same surprises, and that's good news.

Oil news is good news, too, but oil is for the select few, and while more than a few enjoy its values and income, crops in a community spread over a wide scope and more people get a little.

Snap conversations with many farmers indicate that a good stand of cotton is being secured, and maybe the small rains are the very thing for the starting of a bumper crop of cotton and when there is plenty of cotton everybody has a job, and jobs are what everybody is looking for these days following the darkest depression since the dark dark ages. It looks like all that is needed now is to work, watch, pray and wait.

HAMLIN FARMERS CO-OP

OPENING CAR SERVICE STA.

This week the Farmers Co-Op Service Station opened for business near the Farmers Gin in East Hamlin.

This is a new adventure for this community and being so near their gin plant should be a go from the start.

Mr. R. P. Hattox of Plainview community is the active manager. He has been here one week arranging to start the station. Mr. Hattox has no family as he lost his wife nearly two years ago. Mr. Hattox will be assisted by Edward Gardner, a local boy who knows everybody and every car. And it is appropriate here to remind the Herald readers, Mr. Gardner is a newly married man and his greetings will be full of smiles.

The Herald has a note from Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Droke of 114 S. Mistletoe St., San Antonio, Texas, with a nice check for $1.50 for the Herald as long as that amount will pay for. Let us remind all that Mrs. Droke was formerly Miss Lillian Cooper daughter of Mrs. T. B. Cooper who resides in the country where oil seems to be on every hand. Mr. and Mrs. Droke visit Hamlin occasionally and after all Hamlin is "Home."

The Herald anywhere 1 yr., $1.00.

FUSSY PILL ROLLER HERE

31 FULL YEARS

Last Tuesday was June 1. 31 years ago J. J. Waggoner, who today is a spry young druggist, filled his first prescription in Hamlin. The doctor who wrote the prescription was the same Dr. L. S. Magee who today is also a "spry young doctor."

This is an unusual record and especially for doctor and druggist to work together so long. Mr. Waggoner has been in business continuously in Hamlin all these years. Thirty one years is almost one third of a century.

Files of the Hamlin Herald show there was advertising for the Waggoner Drug Store, and even Dr. Magee carried a professional card in the Herald—year No. 1, and that reminds us—in those old days the house now occupied by the Herald was then the Pardue Dry Goods store, the biggest and best in town. Today that old building is fading away and like men (some men) are soon to be no more. So we see there is no end to history—even Hamlin history. Long live Waggoner and Magee.

MRS. D. A. EVANS

Mrs. D. A. Evans, age 61, died at 6:20 Wednesday morning at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Jim Peterson in Plasterco, after an illness of several months.

Funeral service was conducted by Woodie Holden, minister of the Hamlin Church of Christ, Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock in the Peterson home and interment was in the Swedonia Cemetery under direction of Maples Funeral Home of Hamlin.

Mrs. Evans had been a resident of Hamlin community since 1913, and for some time had made her home in Plasterco. For thirty years she had been a member of the Church of Christ.

She is survived by her husband and two sons H. E. Evans, of Plasterco, and C. A. Evans, of Munday; four daughters, Mrs. Jim Peterson, of Plasterco, Mrs. Lee Peterson, Plasterco, Mrs. James Henson, McCaulley and Mrs. J. J. Steele, of Silverton; a sister, Mrs. Seaton of Lamesa, and a number of grand children.

J. C. Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Turner, and W. L. Boyd, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Boyd, who have just completed their sophomore years in Baylor University, returned Friday to spend the summer vacation with their parents.

WE THANK YOU FOR YOUR PATIENCE

Folks, it is appropriate for us to ask your kind patience the next few weeks. You see it is this way: now for several days some fellows have been "monkeying" with our building—they have even pulled off part of the outside walls, and what a mess of dirt and rattle and racket. They have just wrecked our old house till it will hardly hold the sunshine back but we are determined to keep up our record of more than 30 years—"Every Week Since 1905." Really it is hard to assemble news, set it into type and get out a paper under such trying circumstances.

We trust that each and everyone will realize our predicament and wink at us when you have some good news, or when you need some good printing. We are going to keep our presses operating in spite of all the racket, the holes in the walls and dirt in our eyes and ears. It is no fun pulling down a building that has caught the sandstorms of 33 years, especially if that building is one with iron sides, outside and in, iron ceilings and roof. But it looks like the men are going to do it anyway. Just remember we shall be right here on the job for advertising, the news, and for any and all kinds of commercial printing. Maybe soon we shall promise you something really good.

L. H. FINLEY, (UNCLE DUTCH)

PASSED AWAY MAY 23

The Herald in the jumble of rebuilding, failed last week to record the death of one of our best friends, Uncle Dutch Finley, who passed away at his farm home east of Hamlin sometime during the night of May 22.

At the time of his death he had reached 77 years, 1 month and 10 days of age. He was born in the state of Tennessee, and came to Texas about 30 years ago. He never married.

For many years the Finley brothers lived in the Hitson community west of Hamlin, and several of the family were buried in the Hitson-Afton Cemetery. Funeral services were conducted at that cemetery on Monday, May 24, by Rev. H. W. Hanks of the Hamlin Methodist Church.

Special songs for the funeral were rendered by Messrs Jesse and Dee King and their sister, Miss Cassie King, all neighbors of the deceased. Pallbearers were all nephews of Mr. Finley.

Only one member of the immediate family survives, Miss Lucy Finley, who is older than her last brother.

L. H. Finley was of the old school fashion of men, sturdy, honest, kind and reliable. A citizen of the highest type, and a farmer who knew how and had a will to succeed. His friends were numbered by those who knew him.

Miss Callie Joe Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bailey, and a recent graduate of the local high school, is on her way to California and the trip is a graduation present from her aunt, Miss Effie Davison of Elsinore, California. There Miss Bailey and her aunt, who is in the Elsinore schools, will take a long vacation together.

B. E. (SPIDER) MIERS FOUND DEAD THURS.

Shortly after noon, Thursday, a telephone message came to the Barrow Company that Spider Miers, who resides about one mile northwest of McCaulley, was found dead.

The Ambulance hastened there at once. It was learned that the body was found just after noon or about noon by a colored man who works on the farm there. The body was found about 150 yards from the house in the pasture, and nearby was a 22 calibre target.

The facts in the tragedy were being ascertained Thursday afternoon by Fisher County officials.

Spider Miers was one of the most prominent families in Fisher County. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Miers, of near McCaulley, a brother of Commissioner Red Miers of that precinct. He was perhaps 38 or 40 years of age. He married Miss Edith Dick, a daughter of a former pastor of the McCaulley Baptist Church. The couple had no children.

The verdict of the cause of death, and the final arrangements had not been given as the Herald went to press late Thursday.

Mrs. D. D. Harden and Mr. Alfred Harden and children, Jack and Bob, left today for College Station to attend the Final Review at A. & M. College. They will return Sunday, accompanied by Thad Harden, who has just completed his senior years work, and L. B. Williams, a first year student. Thad received the rank of First Lieutenant this year and he will return to A. & M. to do post graduate work next fall.

Carroll Benson returned Tuesday from Hardin-Simmons University where he received his degree. He has made an outstanding record in athletics during his four years, having lettered three years in basketball and two years in football.

Miss Julia Muriel Penn is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Roy Gilbreath, this week. She is accompanied by her friend, Miss Carolyn Cawyer, also of Mercury.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dunnam and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Schooley, of Hylton, were here Sunday to visit their brother, G. L. Dunnam and family.

ROTARIANS-LIONS FISHED AT LUEDERS

If it had not been that J. Henry Littleton succeeded in closing up the beer joint and dance hall at or near the Lueders Camp Grounds, some of us would be ready to accuse a bunch of Hamlin people going to that "spot" for recreation of that kind, Tuesday afternoon, BUT Rev. Henry Littleton, with the aid of public sentiment, did the trick and so nobody can say that Hamlin Rotary Club and Hamlin Lions went over there to get a drink, but reports are that they did FISH.

The Hamlin Rotarians and Lions with a number of invited guests, among them Mr. and Mrs. Billie Bryant of Stamford, went to the "grounds" Tuesday, late afternoon, and their number is reported 108, including men, women and children.

As usual an outing of that kind is a very enjoyable affair. Some say they had a fish fry, and some say it was only sardines, but nobody can be found who came away hungry—regardless of whether the menu included fish or fowl.

About once or twice per year the two clubs of Hamlin have a "get-together" affair, either a party, a banquet, or a picnic. And this week was the time, and the place was at the famous Lueders grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Barrow and children returned Saturday from a weeks stay on the Rio Grande, at Presidio, Texas. They visited with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kirkland, Mr. and Mrs. George Bender, and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Nesbit. While there of course they went over into Mexico and fished. Bob says not even Mexican fish will bite at his hook—the whole crowd caught only three fish.

Miss Mildred Barrow enjoyed her 15th birthday celebration on foreign soil. The trip across the river and entertainment was a treat of Mr. and Mrs. Kirkland.

Mrs. Clarence Mallory of New Orleans is here to enjoy a visit with her mother, Mrs. Florence Morgan, and her brother, Eugene, who is at home from the Navy for 30 days. Mr. Mallory is a traveling salesman with headquarters in New Orleans.

BREAD IS NOT FATTENING

New Reducing Diet allows 2 slices of Bread at Every Meal

THE new BREAD DIET is based on the proved fact that Bread itself is not fattening.

Bread is an energy food. Extreme reducing diets cut down too much on energy foods because starch is considered fattening. Bread is not just a "starchy" food. It is a combination of energy-giving carbohydrates and a special form of protein that helps burn up fat while you are reducing.

Extreme diets may result in nervous breakdown and should be undertaken only under a doctor's direction.

Go on the Bread Diet—and be splendidly energetic, not weak and irritable. This diet gives you the main part of your energy food in Bread.

ROTARIANS SAIL FOR FRANCE

NEW YORK, May 20.—The "flagship" of the fleet of fourteen ships carrying 2,500 Rotarians of North America to the annual convention of Rotary International at Nice, France, June 6-11, the "S. S. Carinthia" sailed at 5 o'clock this evening with a party of several hundred officers and their families.

Three ships have already started, and ten others are to follow, each with a large delegation of Rotarians. President Will R. Manier, Jr., of Nashville, Tennessee, heads the party on the "Carinthia" which includes most of those who have been chosen to be governors of the North American Rotary districts for the next year, starting July 1st.

These incoming governors, selected at conferences in their districts in the past few weeks, will meet the rest of the governors from other parts of the world at Montrouex, Switzerland, on May 37, for a week of consideration of Rotary affairs, preceding the convention in Nice.

Among the other large delegations organized for the trip to Nice are those of the British Isles, well over a thousand, and from continental Europe, about an equal number. Plans have been made by the Nice

Rotarians and the municipality for an attendance of around 8,000.

The convention will be formally opened by the President of France, M. Albert Lebrun, at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, June 6. Business sessions will continue through Friday morning, after which most of the North Americans will scatter over Europe for sightseeing. Preparations for official receptions have been made for the post-convention travelers. One of these will be held in the London Guildhall, June 25th. The Duke of Kent, younger brother of the King, will attend this reception to Rotarians visiting England.

Racket Store

REMEMBER when many American towns had "Racket Stores"?

The first one was in Leesville, La. Its proprietor, Simon West, started with a capital of $300 and became one of the wealthiest men in the state. He called it the "Rouse Racket Store" because he bought his goods from Charles Broadway Rouse of New York, who was the originator of the term.

As a jobber of general merchandise, his trade was mainly with small-town storekeepers in the Middle West and Southwest. Twice a year these merchants went to New York to lay in their stocks. Rouse bought most of his merchandise at auction and his warehouses and store were filled with bales, barrels and bundles of an odd assortment of goods.

As he conducted his customers through his store, he would point to some exceptionally good buy, and say "Now, here's something you can make a racket with in your town!" Soon the storekeepers adopted his phrase and when their business was dull they would write to him, saying: "What specials have you in prints or calico that I can make a racket with?"

A modern survival of the "racket" idea in merchandising is found in the catalogues of some of the big wholesalers who designate their "specials" as "Noise makers."

IN MEMORY OF UNCLE DUTCH FINLEY

A quiet gentle man, peaceable and kind one who went about his work without hustle and fuss, tending strictly to his own affairs, and at the same time interested in any thing that concerned his own community. He always met his friends and his neighbors with a smile. He would laugh with them over funny incidents, and would give helpful sympathy to all in trouble. The neighbors and friends will miss Uncle Dutch for he loved each and everyone. Now we realize that he is gone, and our community will hardly seem the same without Uncle Dutch. His kindly smile and warm hand-clasp. May the Lord keep our memories green when it comes to remembering Uncle Dutch Finley and his gentle life, his place in our community that can never be filled. There was but one Uncle Dutch Finley.

By A NEIGHBOR.

Mrs. M. T. York returned Monday from Waco with her son, Marvin, who has finished his second year in Baylor University. She was accompanied on the trip by Mr. Arlie Cassle and Miss Pat Allbritton, a teacher in the Hamlin schools, who returned to her home in Waco to spend the summer.

Uncommon Americans

By Elmo Scott Watson

Real Estate Promoter

THOUGH you may regard real estate promoters as products of modern times, the fact is one of the greatest "put over his deal" early in the history of the republic. His name was Joel Barlow and he was a lawyer, a diplomat and a poet, which may account for the fact that once "his siren voice persuaded a group of French emigrants to seek a Garden of Eden in Ohio."

Back in 1787 two groups of land speculators, known as the Ohio Associates and the Scioto Associates, secured the right from congress to purchase land in the Northwest territory with the almost worthless Continental currency with which it had paid off soldiers of the Revolution. Then the Scioto Associates sent Barlow to France to dispose of these lands. They had nothing but an option on the lands but that didn't stop Barlow.

He sold a tract of 3,000,000 acres to a French Scioto company which in turn retailed farms to peasants and artisans who were willing to emigrate to America. In the spring of 1790 some 600 of them arrived in Alexandria, Va. William Duer, head of the Scioto Associates, was filled with dismay for there were neither agents to meet them nor lands ready for them.

Foreseeing the trouble that was ahead when hundreds more land-hungry Frenchmen arrived, Duer hastily arranged to take over lands of the Ohio Associates, who owed him money. For this debt he got nearly 200,000 acres on the Ohio river opposite the mouth of the Great Kanawha.

There he brought the Frenchmen and in October, 1790, the town of Gallipolis was founded. Rufus Putnam was engaged to build their huts for them but Duer soon found that it would be impossible to fulfill all the glowing promises which Barlow had made—to provide good homes and profitable occupation for the skilled artisans among them. By 1792 Duer had gone bankrupt, land titles were still in a bad tangle and the settlement of Gallipolis began to dwindle. For years thereafter congress had to listen to many a tale of woe from the victims before their claims were settled.

SUN TAN SHOULD BE ACQUIRED SLOWLY SAYS DR. COX

AUSTIN, Texas.—"One of the striking examples of over working a good thing is the enthusiasm displayed by thousands of persons in trying to secure a sun tan too quickly. Under a misguided conception of the sun's health giving power, such persons either deliberately or thoughtlessly submit their unprotected faces, backs and legs to over-exposure and suffer painfully, sometimes seriously, as a consequence," comments, Dr. Ge. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"The discomfort and annoyance of even mild sunburn should deter people from repeating this folly from year to year. However, especially where younger persons are concerned, the enthusiasm for fun and the desire to become speedily tanned are likely to exact the inevitable price with painful regularity.

"It is one thing to apply the principles of sun treatment scientifically and quite another one to place the tender skin unrestrainedly under the direct rays of the sun. It should be understood that when the sun is employed as treatment patients are exposed for but a few minutes at a time, the periods being gradually extended as the tanning develops.

"The uninformed and the thoughtless, on the other hand, give the sun free rein, submit themselves frequently to hours of continuous exposure and naturally reap misery and illness as a direct consequence.

"Before becoming too ardent over-sunbathing, one should do well to ponder that many a vacation or week-end excursion has been ruined solely because the blistering and illness-producing power of the sun's rays upon the tender skin was insufficiently appreciated.

Eavesdroppers often find out something they don't want to know. The greatest blessing that comes to man is to find work that he loves. Unhappiness, like a rotten apple, contaminates others. A man's reputation is the sum total of what others think of him.

KNOW TEXAS

DENTON.—Easily justifiable are the broad smiles of Texas business men when they see that over 41,240 out-of-state cars came across these borders during the nine-month period from June, 1936 to March, 1937, according to official tabulations of the Highway Department.

One good reason for smiling is that the estimated mileage covered by those thousands of cars in Texas is over thirty-one million miles. This means that from the sale of gasoline $151,185.72 was taken in by dealers and a little matter of $43,441.76 went to the state in taxes.

To these figures must be added the revenue from tourists in the way of lodging, food, clothing, car repairs and other miscellaneous items of travel, none of which can be tabulated or even accurately estimated. Summer travelers who know what a small percentage of their vacation expenses is taken up by gasoline consumption can realize how great a sum was probably spent within the state on these other items.

There can be no doubt but that this influx of out-of-state trade was profitable both to the collective and individual interests of Texans. Oklahoma led the list of states who sent the greatest number of cars to Texas with nearly seven thousand visitors. California was second with over five thousand, and next in order were Louisiana, Illinois and Mississippi.

These figures were much higher than usual because of the Centennial, since 32,131 cars crossed the state line during those four months alone. With statewide cooperation the Pan-American Exposition should prove just as successful in stirring up traffic this summer.

Education is more than an admirable vocabulary.

Now she has nothing but her graying hair, her fifty-two years, her eager following up of any new friend—any new enthusiast of the "Village," who may afford her an opening to sell a play or story.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

THE problem of the girl just out of college reduces itself, very often, to one simple situation. She wants to get away from home, she wants to go anywhere and do anything that has nothing to do with home and home duties, and she knows her people don't want her to go.

Life seems dull at home in the tiresome familiar small town, and few girls are wise enough to realize that to the dull all things are dull, and that to the finely tempered spirit all life is thrilling.

They break with home if they possibly can, and if the family can afford it, and often years later they see that that young, impatient decision was an expensive one; that none of the new experiences, none of the new ties compare with the old ones.

As a matter of fact one is always meeting dissatisfied women, who once belonged in comfortable country homes, with neighbors and a library and a mother and a dad and a garden, but who now belong nowhere. They are professional stragglers and hangers-on, eternally hopeful of a success, eternally embarrassed for funds, eternally changing about. Perhaps they have tried marriage once or twice without finding any happiness in it; perhaps there is a child who is kept in boarding-school nine months a year, and parked with some amiable aunt or grandparent for the long vacation. Such women talk a great deal, and are volubly confident that they have something important to give the world; but they rarely give it for the simple reason that they haven't got it to give.

Molly Kent is such a woman. She is essentially small-town in type, as indeed most of us—perhaps all of us, are. That is, she likes a circle of intimate and admiring friends, likes an occasional party, likes good meals and sunshine and holidays at the lake or shore, and would like a good husband. She has none of these things. They all existed in her home town when she left it thirty years ago; they're all there still, with considerable augmentations in the way of electric stoves, movies, motor-cars, radios, circulating libraries and so on. But Molly isn't there to enjoy them.

She graduated with considerable dash, and almost immediately had the flattering opportunity to refuse in marriage one of the town's richest young men. Molly hadn't a penny, herself, so we were all impressed with the fact that she was unusual.

Her father was a minister whose parishioners were presently convinced, by Molly herself, for she never lacked self-confidence, that Littleton was much too small for her. They collected a purse of three hundred dollars and Molly bought a thirty-dollar tourist ticket and was off for New York. For a year or two she occasionally wrote them; she never came back.

She was an only child, and they were a gentle, affectionate couple, the minister and his wife. It would seem that they might have had some of the joy and pride of parenthood, after her eighteenth year. But they both died without ever seeing Molly again.

Three years later Molly came up to me in a little restaurant called the "Dutch Kitchen," in New York's Bohemian quarter. She was coarsened and hardened outside, but underneath she was the same small-town Molly, giggling and breathless over the great folk she was meeting, the geniuses who let her lend them small sums of money. She had a job in a department store; a job over which she made merry because it was so ridiculously practical, but a job which fed her and her friends nevertheless. She lived with a Russian girl named Tora, who often had men in the cluttered, uncomfortable bedroom in the afternoons; Molly would come home exhausted on bargain nights to find a cocktail party in progress, a gas-collector waiting at the door.

For twenty-five years Molly has been dashing around the same dingy streets of the same city. Her room is deep between the great shafts of enormous buildings and gets no sun. It is bitterly cold from November to March, and insufferable in July and August. Molly sleeps in winter with an old fur coat wrapped about her, and in summer, she tells me, goes down with the crowd to Coney and sits on the beach talking all night.

She has tried marriage twice, failed twice. One good look at each husband explains the failures, by the way. She had a little girl about whom she said she was crazy, and I believe it was as deep a love as her strange, restless heart ever was to know, but Joan died. Now she has nothing but her graying hair, her fifty-two years, her eager following up of any new friend—any new enthusiast of the "Village," who may afford her an opening to sell a play or story, get into a dramatic production, work on stage sets or costumes, do anything, go anywhere. Last year she told me in gales of triumphant laughter that she and some of her pals had gone up to the Garden one night during the circus engagement and ridden 'round the ring on the elephants. "We do the craziest things!" exulted Molly.

Well, at twenty it is rather fun to get in with the circus people and ride on the elephants. Years ago it was quite the smart and rakish thing to do and society went in for it; one wonders now exactly why. I remember one clean and sweet and beautiful woman who suffered bitter pangs of humiliation and wept long and loud because after she had gotten herself into the hot smelly lined and interlined costume of the Queen of Sheba the circus manager decided that the big elephant was too much excited that night and that one of the men should ride him.

That a woman of fifty, who has known disillusionment in marriage and the heartbreak of losing a child, who can remember half a century of living, suffering, working, still feels that this is a great lark is only to prove once again that Molly's mind and spirit never have been keyed to big things—that she never belonged anywhere but at home, in the cottage with the yellow banksia and the Dorothy Perkins foaming over it like a tide of color ever spring, with the cool green ocean only a few miles away, and with Jim Bates mad to marry her.

And the moral of all this, as the Duchess would say, is that while it is right and natural for children to want to break free and try their own wings, and right and generous for parents to make it possible for them to do so, the girl who is not smart enough to learn within six months, or a year at least, that she doesn't belong in the wider environment, that she is going to be a fifty-rate hanger-on all her days, ends by belonging nowhere.

As the wife of one of the town's fine men, as the proud mother of a line of children, as her own mother's good daughter, an influence in the club, in the charitable organizations of her church, Molly Kent might have had her occasional moments of unrest, it is true. She might have wondered if her life was going to be nothing but cribs and bottles, having the piano tuned and sending home strawberries for dinner. Women usually find this home program pretty filling, but she might have been the exception—the woman whose thoughts do occasionally stray to a more exciting sphere. But even so the hours of happiness and content would outweigh the other hours by hundreds.

A few months ago I went back for another visit to Littleton. It was very sweet in spring beauty of hawthorns and iris and roses; even the shabbiest houses were wreathed in glory. The old Bates house, balcony and bay-windowed, has undergone some changes. Lucia Bates—she was Jim's father's secretary for six drab years—has six almost-grown children. There's a swimming pool now beside the tennis court, and several sleeping porches. Lucia is a quiet woman, but she is no fool. She went to Washington last year to represent a hospital organization; she is local head of the Girl Scouts. She takes long-legged boys and red-headed girls off for weeks at beaches; she goes down to San Francisco for opera week; she belongs to a reading club.

Nothing sensational. But in all truth she gets more real living, real feeling and serving and loving out of one day than Molly Kent gets out of a year.

45TH LEGISLATURE

The regular session of the 45th Legislature at the end of a 130 day term adjourned this week and were immediately called in special session to meet again May 27th to consider repeal of the horse racing law. The expense of the regular session will be approximately $400,000.00, and the special session will be about $75,000.00 more.

The appropriations by the regular session will be over one hundred million dollars—yes, 100 million—an average of $100 for family of five in the state for the biennium. While if this was all the tax burden, it would still be bad, but when we take into consideration the additional taxes collected by the counties, cities and school districts and road districts together with income and inheritance taxes, we find that the average tax burden is well over $400 per family, and the amount is growing year by year.

While the state is rendering service to the people in a great many more ways than in former years, yet the continued increase year by year causes, or should cause us to stop and wonder where the spending is going to end.

When I was governor in 1915, the total expenditure was less than 20 million dollars. Now it is 100 million, a 500 per cent gain to not over 50 per cent gain in population. We brag about our educational advancement. Let us see if our education has produced civilization. In my first term as Governor, the sheriffs and constables of the counties kept the peace and laws were enforced and we only had about 40 rangers to help quell local disturbances, including 900 miles of Mexican border.

Now we have the same number of sheriffs and constables and the legislature just now adjourned appropriated four and a half million dollars to what they call public safety, for additional peace officers to the sheriffs and constables of the counties. It would appear that the more we educate the meaner we get and the situation grows worse every day.

When W. P. Lane was Comptroller 24 years ago, his main deputy collected all the liquor taxes, collected from the liquor dealers in 50 wet counties of the state. The legislature just adjourned appropriated nearly two million dollars for the liquor board and its 700 appointees to enforce the liquor laws. I am afraid that old pioneer apostle of prohibition, my friend Dr. J. B. Cranfil, will laugh up his sleeve when us antis attempt to talk about regulation of the liquor business. Yes, if we don't do better than this administration, he will give us the horse laugh. It looks like law enforcement like salvation is no longer free or effective.

When I was Governor we managed to make about three million dollars out of penitentiary operation under a humane pardon policy. Legislature just adjourned appropriated nearly four million dollars to run the penitentiary system, and there will be very little to offset this large expenditure. I wonder if the people would like to see a return to business sanity and efficiency in the management of their financial affairs. Who will speak first?

Oh, yes, I liked to forgot to call attention to the fact that notwithstanding the 100 million appropriation there are still kept off the pension rolls 150,000 that are entitled to pension under the constitutional amendment voted by the people.

McCAULEY MATTERS

(By JOHN P. HARDESTY)

Roland Stephenson, band instructor in Canyon High school, was home the past week-end visiting his mother, Mrs. W. H. Stephenson, and his sister, Mrs. Virgil Steele and family. He is to return soon to Canyon where he continues with the band work during the summer. He also attended the Alumni banquet of Hardin-Simmons at the Hilton Hotel, Abilene, Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McCloud, of Littlefield, are spending a few days with Mrs. McCloud's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Akins, and other relatives and friends. Mr. McCloud is a teacher in the Littlefield public school. They will later visit relatives at Bryson, Texas, then go to Abilene where he will take courses in Abilene Christian College during the summer.

Emmett Akins and family were guests of the Akins families on Sunday, his father, I. W., and brothers, Tom and Luther.

The public school has closed and with the good rains that have fallen the farmers of the community will be quite busy for a few weeks in their fields. Wheat and oats harvest is right on, too. The prospects for a good yield are good.

The Home Demonstration Club gave a play at the school auditorium on Saturday night to a good crowd. The proceeds are to be used to pay expenses of delegates to the A. & M. short course.

Miss Kenna Rector, teacher in the local school, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Rector, was among those receiving an A. B. degree from Hardin-Simmons University this week. Miss Kenna is a very efficient and popular teacher and her home town appreciates her greatly.

All members of the school faculty, twelve in all, have been elected to teach next year and so far as we know they will remain with us. The year just closed has been unusually successful for the school and we look forward for even better next school year.

FORT WORTH FRONTIER

FIESTA FLASH

Fort Worth. — Billy Rose has swung back the curtain at last to reveal the carefully-guarded secrets of the Casa Manana Revue of 1937, outstanding attraction of the great array of amusement which will form the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta, opening June 26.

The spectacular scope and magnificent sweep of the little idealist's plans actually had an audience of 400 leading citizens from all parts of Texas enthralled and, at the conclusion of the graphic description, Broadway's Barnum was cheered for two minutes.

Last year, the Casa Manana Revue was a cavalcade of World's Fairs. This year, the scenes will have as a background four "best sellers"—"Gone with the Wind," "Wake Up and Live," "Lost Horizon," and "It Can't Happen Here." In the finale ("It Can't Happen Here") 300 persons will swarm about the biggest stage-set ever built. The scene, a stirring onslaught against 'isms,' is thus depicted by Rose:

HUGE CHROMIUM STAIRS

"First you will see the Black Shirts, then the Brown Shirts and then the Reds. These will go into a modern bacchanal, which will be interrupted by a fanfare of trumpets, Everett Marshall, the former Metropolitan opera singer, will appear at the top of the chromium stairway that goes over the top of the permanent set on the world's biggest revolving stage, and will sing a song representing the spirit of America.

"Women dressed in white patent leather costumes will appear; West Point cadets will march down the long flight of stairs; forces of the sea, forces of the air and finally the Texas Sweetheart No. 1 will sweep down the magnificent stairway. The Texas Sweetheart will be wearing the largest gown ever created, consisting of 1,200 yards of spangled satin and 24 boys will carry the train. She will represent Liberty.

MUSICAL DRAMATIZATION

Then on a flagstaff 50 feet above the scene, the Stars and Stripes and the Lone Star Banner will be raised while miniature battleships fire cannon in the lagoon in front of the receding stage and the heavens will be lighted with a shower of gold and silver stars."

The books will be dramatized with a musical background; there will be no dialog, the appeal being visual and melodic. Describing the "Gone with the Wind" scene, the Frontier Fiesta director-general said:

"You will see a plantation in the Old South. Ladies and gentlemen will appear at a garden party and Harriet Hoctor, famous ballerina, will arrive in a carriage drawn by four horses. She will portray Scarlett O'Hara, characterizing the romance of the book in dance. Everett Marshall will portray Rhett Butler and will sing 'Gone with the Wind,' composed by Dana Suesse, who wrote 'The Night Is Young and You're So Beautiful,' hit of the 1936 show.

MANSSION BURNS

"Pickaninnies will dance and there will be an ensemble dance. The distant booming of cannon is heard and Marshall gallops in on a horse to shout that the end of civilization is at hand. As the huge stage begins to turn, the mansion bursts into flames. Thus we will start the show by burning up the scene.

"Then will come the 'Lost Horizon' episode. If you thought the show girls' costumes in the Paris number last year were beautiful, wait until you see what Raoul Pene de Bois has designed for this year. The Sturat Morgan dancers, greatest adagio dancers in the world, will perform. As the stage moves back over the water, a water curtain will shoot 400 feet into the air, colored with beautiful lights."

CONOCO DEALERS EXPECT TOURISTS

Local merchants, and particularly the Conoco dealers, are looking forward to substantial profit this summer, as a result of the largest tourist season in history, according to E. C. Feagan, manager here for Continental Oil Company.

"Early summer requests received by the Conoco Travel Bureau for touring information indicate that 1937 will surpass even last year's travel business," he said. "Naturally all merchants will profit, but the Conoco dealers have an additional reason for optimism.

"Under Continental's new policy all of its products are sold through independent dealers—which means that every Conoco dealer either owns or leases his station, is in business for himself. He doesn't work for a weekly or monthly pay envelope; so naturally he gets out and hustles for that extra profit. And when he gets that profit, it stays in town, as he spends his money with the local merchants.

"Furthermore, Continental Oil Company is giving its dealers some fine cooperation. They are taking newspaper space to advertise the dealer's station as well as their own products. In this advertising Conoco dealers are known as 'mileage merchants'—and, actually that's just what they are."

Don't put up with pains

PAIN Get rid of it

When functional pains of menstruation are severe, take CARDUI. If it doesn't benefit you, consult a physician. Don't neglect such pains. They depress the tone of the nerves, cause sleeplessness, loss of appetite, wear out your resistance. Get a bottle of Cardui and see whether it will help you, as thousands of women have said it helped them.

Besides easing certain pains, Cardui aids in building up the whole system by helping women to get more strength from their food.

Texas cows produced an average of 10.9 pounds of milk each on May 1, compared with 10.6 a year ago and 9.4 in May, 1935, according to statistics compiled by the Texas Planning Board. The highest state average was California with 21.2.

KNOW TEXAS

By F. L. McDONALD, T. S. C. W. NEWS BUREAU, DENTON

As the summer wanderlust gains force and friend wife begins to make helpful vacation hints about "How lovely the Riviera must be!" triumphant husband can gleefully reply, "But let's go see the Riviera of Texas!" a name often attached to the Gulf Coast region.

Truly Texas offers countless vacation opportunities. Not even native Texans have realized how varied the attractions of the Lone Star State are. Take, for instance, the gulf coast. By circling the "hug-the-coast highway and investigating the coastal towns, one will find sights and diversions to satisfy the most exacting tastes.

Beginning in Houston, Texas' largest city, history-lovers can browse around San Jacinto battlefield, and pleasure-seekers can hie themselves to Sylvan Beach. Of if the traveler is in need or more sea breeze, he can go from there straight down to Galveston, where white sands, crisp breakers, fresh seafood, plentiful tourist accommodations, all kinds of fishing and varied entertainment are combined in one island resort.

Tarpon and other large salt water fishing is the ruling sport at the next coastwise stop, Freeport, which is also the center of the world's largest sulphur industry. For inspection near West Columbia, where the republic's first capitol was located, are several well-preserved southern plantations which are guaranteed to arouse dreamy pre-Civil war reflections.

Heading southwest through old fishing village of Matagorda and the popular angling spots of Port Aransas and Port Lavaca, the highway finally comes to Corpus Christi. This year-around playground, besides being an important port, is the home of the famous "tarpon rodeo." Boating is another pastime eagerly pursued there, and swimming enthusiasts crowd the long shore line from spring to autumn.

Mrs. Kenneth Kreutzer of Corpus Christi, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Armstrong. She was formerly Nadine Armstrong.

GOVERNOR POLITICS

By JIM FERGUSON

Editor's note: This article is published as a news item and represents the personal views of Mr. Ferguson only.)

The next Governor's race, while not yet assuming definite alignment is nevertheless the occasion of frequent discussion. There are three people who are prominently mentioned. They are: William McCraw, Atty. Gen., Ernest Thompson, Railroad Com., and Robert Lee Bobbit, Chairman of the Highway Commission.

While others have been mentioned, but only by slight reference, McCraw, Thompson and Bobbit have almost reached the degree of avowed candidates. Politically speaking the three have many things in common. All three are on most cordial terms with Governor Allred who would receive their support in a contest with Senator Connally which now seems certain. All three are now in office filling unexpired terms. All three are prohibitionists. All three are opposed to the sales tax and are expected to be in accord with Governor Allred's policy of opposition to liberal pensions. All three are much alike in that none of them have announced any plan or policy of taxation. None of the three have announced any plan to bring about governmental economy or retrenchment. All three were of the Ku Klux Klan alignment. All three are against the President on the Court bill. They are alike in that none of them have declared against the Communists or the Fascists. They are all three intensely active in contacting the voter and meeting the dear people.

All three will make strong showing in the campaign. It is a horse race already and by the way, all three are in favor of the repeal of racing. I never saw three prospective candidates more alike. They all want the same office. This seems to be the only point of difference.

Bill McGraw, as his friends from the sticks call him, is as busy as a cat on a hot rock these days, and Oh! me, how fast he does travel, on official business of course, and he is certainly carrying some kind news to many. Bill has about 30 active assistants in his office who manage to find opportunity at lunch time to tell everybody what a lead pipe cinch he has to win the race.

Ernest Thompson is a going piece of political machinery too, and if he lines up the appointees in the Railroad Commission and the truck and bus divisions and then re-inforce with the oil and gas department and its hundred of appointments, he certainly will have a formidable political army that will have to be reckoned with, in the final totals at the polls. Watch this red head from the Panhandle. He ain't no slouch.

Lee Bobbit, less reserved and probably less active, may get his stride before the home stretch is reached, and with almost the unanimous support and influence of the Highway department appointees he will make somebody hard to catch, and he may gum up the cards considerable. If Jimmie Allred gets behind Bobbit, then the fat will be in the fire sure enough and the devil will be to pay.

All this is the set up in the Governor's race as I see and hear it today. It is all subject to change. The people may take a different view altogether and express a desire for a new kind of candidate advancing a new brand of statesmanship. There is certainly need of reform and whether the masses will call come Cincinnatus from the plow to bring relief remains to be seen. It is the people's move if they are not satisfied and want a change.

The situation is serious and as the election is many months away, we should keep our head cool and our powder dry and not make any political purchases until we have inspected the whole stock.

I was amused when I heard an old timer say on the corner that it was time to clean the capitol and turn the rascals out and the people in.

Thanks Mr. Cauble

Tuesday, F. E. Cauble, lake keeper for Hamlin, again proved his "ocean" has fish, good as ever caught. Yes sir-ee, he even presented the Herald family with a heaping plate of nicest black bass, all cleaned, dressed and ready for the pan. This is proof there is fish in "them thar waters." Mr. Cauble is quite proud of his lakes, the grounds, the shade and the song birds—most of all the fish. Thank you, sir.

Information is that Lee Norris, Jr. a former Hamlin boy, graduated from Texas Tech on May 31, and has been given a position with General Electric at Fort Wayne, Ind. This means he will take a full year of special electrical engineering in the company's school with all expenses paid plus some salary. Lee worked his way through Texas Tech and made excellent grades.

What one does with his money is more important than the size of his income.

Readers of the Herald will notice the announcement ad of Mr. Joe Hull, Electrolux Man in this issue. Mr. Hull has his wife and little daughter in Hamlin and would like to get an unfurnished apartment. He is making his headquarters at the Cain Radio Shop for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Miller and little daughter, Lazetta, of Miami, Arizona, visited Mrs. Miller's sister, Mrs. J. O. Elliott and also friends Friday and Saturday of last week. Mrs. Miller will be remembered as Miss Viola Crew.

Gaylon W. Robertson, who has been with the Rockwell Bros. & Co. lumber yard in Hamlin, has accepted a place with the same company in their Lueders yard. Gaylon is not so far away from Hamlin, but for fear something important happens here and he will not learn of it, he is having the Herald to follow up each week. Thanks Gaylon and success to you and your company at Lueders.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Compton and children, of Denton, were guests from Monday until Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Compton's sister, Mrs. W. T. Cherry and family.

Mr. Compton is a teacher of sociology in the State Teachers College in Denton and he and his family were enroute to California, where he is doing work on his Doctors degree in the University of Southern California.
